

STACKING PLAN

20 WEST KINZIE is a curated community of high-growth tenants who are leaders in the sectors driving our economy: technology, education, energy, financial services and entertainment.

Now, new economy firms can occupy Google's celebrated Chicago headquarters. From its innovative pods and hangouts to its splendid dining facilities, this premium office space is designed to promote creativity and collaboration. In total, it is 75,000 SF of contiguous, column-free space stacked for maximum efficiency and to encourage interaction and innovation within and across teams.
